Shoppers save a fortune at local discount store

1000s of local shoppers are making huge savings on their weekly shopping bill, saving 60 to 70% on top brand products on a regular basis. RDA on Plumb Street are selling 1000s of products every week at prices that seem unbelievable.

RDA operate out of Spring Garden Mill on Plumb Street/Turf St and Craven St. with over 20,000 sq feet of retail space and two large car parks. The store is fondly remembered as Taskers and was one of the 1st self service supermarkets in the town. RDA took over in 1996 and the business has grown steadily, increasing its range of products. They now sell large furniture pieces such as suites, beds, dining sets, etc.

"Because we operate out of this type of building we can keep our prices low," says Rob Hutchinson, MD of RDA. "We don't have the huge overheads of the high street. We have no fancy lighting or big point of sale designs. We are the original back to basics, stack 'em high and sell 'em low store. We are the bargain hunters dream."

Big Art is back!

'Invisible' pictures will light up town

By DAVID WATKINSON

NIGHT LIGHTS: Burnley College student Danielle Marsh with one of the light displays at last year's Invisible project

BURNLEY'S famous 'invisible' artworks will be visible once again for the winter, and the project will be launched with a lantern procession through the town.

The scheme, as part of Channel 4's Big Art project, will start on Thursday, October 29, at 6pm, a lantern procession will mark the popular route round town which shows the artworks in their best light.

'Invisible' is a series of 19 UV paintings and projections around the town, which appear and disappear when illuminated by UV. The UK arts collective Greyworld created the artwork, which was commissioned as part of 2008's Channel 4 Big Art Project.

Young people who want to get involved in the exciting procession can come along to a free lantern making workshop and design their own lantern to lead the way through town.

The workshop is Wednesday, October 28, between 2-4pm in the Children's Library, Burnley Central Library.

Helen Jones, from Burnley Council, said: "We're really excited that 'Invisible' is going to be back on the list of Burnley attractions now that the nights are drawing in.

"The project was a really exciting addition to the town, and the result of months of hard but fun and rewarding work, and it's great that the artwork is going to be available for people to enjoy through the winter."

Burnley was the first Big Art Project site across the UK to come to fruition and was funded by Burnley Council, Channel 4, Arts Council England, The Art Fund

Creative Partnerships, Lancashire County Council, North West Development Agency, Moving Forward: TheNorthern Way, Arts & Business, Elevate East Lancashire Better Burnley and Tesco.

Citizen In brief

A belting safety drive by Billy Bee

Seatbelt campaigner Billy Bee has been checking to see whether school-children in Colne qualify for his safety drive.

Billy Bee is the mascot for the joint Love Your Kids, Belt Them In campaign by our sister newspaper the Lancashire Telegraph and Lancashire Road Safety Partnership. The campaign was launched at Sacred Heart Primary, and has also visited Lord Street school.

Park Primary also became involved and Billy Bee measured pupils to see if they need to wear seatbelts. He is pictured with pupils and PCSO Trish Thompson.

Lighting plan

Councillor Ida Carmichael is proposing to improve the lighting in Ightenhill Park, Burnley, due to gangs of youths gathering at the site.

'Be vigilant' alert

Police have warned residents of Padiham Road, Burnley, to be vigilant after reports of people acting suspiciously in the area. Sgt Roger Crew said: "We would urge residents to keep all doors and their cars locked and secure, and report any suspicious behaviour to the police."

Couple's delight at TV makeover

A COUPLE had a shock when they returned home from a trip to Blackpool to find their house had been redecorated by a TV crew.

Linda Barker and the team from the ITV show 60 Minute Makeover transformed three rooms in the home of Ian Frankland, 55, and Josie Banks, 46, after being contacted by Ian's daughter.

Interior designers spent an hour working on the dining room and two bedrooms at the house in Lower Rook Street, Barnoldswick.

Lindsey Frankland, who arranged for the 60 Minute Makeover team to visit the house, said it was to show her and her three sisters' appreciation for their dad and stepmum's efforts. She said: "They have been absolutely fantastic to us, especially in the last year.

"I have had two back oper-ations in the past 12 months, and despite suffering health problems of their own, they were always there to take my son to school and keep his routine going.

"We are all so grateful for what they have done for us, and this seemed the best way to show them."

Josie suffers from diabetes and has recently spent time in hospital after suffering a heart problem, while Ian has also suffered from back problems. Ian's daughter Lucy got the couple away from the home by taking them to Blackpool for an evening and the following morning, the 60 Minute Makeover team got to work, with help and advice from other family members.

"They were so surprised when they got back.

"They didn't have a clue," Lindsey said.

"They were speechless for a while, especially Josie.

"I think it is only just sinking in now. They walk in the rooms and expect it to have all been a dream.

"It looks fantastic. The designers have done a brilliant job.

"The rooms had not been redecorated in 15 years and needed doing."

Revenge hopes for rematch

DEFIANT Clarets fans vowed that their time will come after tasting a bitter derby day defeat at the hands of Blackburn Rovers.

Supporters pointed to the progress the club had made since the sides last met in the Carling Cup in 2005, when Rovers went through after a fifth round replay, as a good reason not to be too downhearted.

And after missing out by the odd goal in five, avid Clarets said they were already plotting their revenge for the return leg on March 27 at Turf Moor.

A claret and blue army left their spiritual home yesterday while many folk were still sleeping off their Saturday nights out.

Supporters queued around Turf Moor, in the shadow of the Jimmy McIlroy and James Hargreaves stands, ready for the short hop down the M65, from 9am onwards.

Club officials had lined up 46 double and single deckers, from the likes of Lancashire United, Redline, Tyrers and Walton Swift.

And the gallows humour was evident right from the off, with some supporters donning convict uniforms in protest at the high-security arrangements for the first top-flight derby in 43 years.

The faithful set off with their hopes high, ready if not willing, to spend three hours at Ewood before a ball was kicked.

Steven Tyler, 48, of Padiham, said: "It's just ridiculous that they only gave us 3,000 tickets but we're still going to sing our hearts out. We've been waiting for this for more years than I care to remember."

Fans had barely settled in when Robbie Blake's fifth-minute screamer triggered a shower of lager and alcopops over the crowd.

But it was ecstasy to agony in just four minutes as David Dunn levelled the proceedings, before Di Santo and Pascal Chimbonda turned the game around.

DOWN BUT NOT OUT: Clarets fans applaud their heroes at the final whistle

FANS HAVE THEIR SAY

ADAM WALNE, 20, of Rosehill, Burnley, said: "Coyle must have given them a good rollicking at half-time. I hoped we were going to draw 3-3."

ABBY INGHAM, 32, from Nelson, said: "They brought Chris Eagles on as a substitute and he helped to bring them back into it."

SARAH REID, 21, from Slade Lane, Padiham, said: "I think it was our defence which has let us down. It's been very difficult to come back."

MARTYN LAW, 36, of Rosehill, Burnley, said: "I hoped we were going to pull it back. But we needed to score in the first five minutes of the restart."

Follow the river

An illustrated lecture on 'Walking the Ribble Way' will be given by Stuart and Anita Kellington at Burnley Mechanics on November 2, at 7.30pm.

There will be a discussion about a walk from the Ribble estuary at Lytham to its source near Ingleborough, including Ribchester, Mitton, Clitheroe and Sawley. Tickets £1 on the door.

Festive magic

David Fawcett-Ropner stages a demonstration entitled 'The Magic of Christmas' for Forest of Pendle Flower Club, at the Civic Hall, Maud Street, Barrowford, on November 18 from 7.30pm. Tickets are £6 and there will be a raffle.

Hotel progress

Proposals to convert the Craven Heifer pub, Kelbrook, into a nine-room hotel and bar, given planning permission by Pendle council earlier this year, are beginning to take shape.

The warning comes as part of a police campaign to tackle dangerous drivers.

22-year wait for memorial is over

A NEW war memorial has taken pride of place in the heart of Nelson – after 22 years of waiting.

And it has been revealed that the new cenotaph, outside the town's library, will receive Royal assent next month.

The Duke of Kent will be present next month at the first Armstice Day remembrance service for the Nelson monument.

Following the closure of the former Reedyford Hospital in 1987, the town has been without a single place which officially commemorated, by name, those townsfolk who made the supreme sacrifice in conflicts dating back to the Boer War.

But following a determined effort by the Royal British Legion (RBL) and especially Nelson historian Fred Stringer, the gap has been filled.

The opaque cenotaph, in the newly-renamed Memorial Squ-are, bears the names of 1,390 men who lost their lives, from South Africa, through two World Wars, National Service and Northern Ireland, to the present day. Hundreds gathered to see the York stone monument unveiled and dedicated by the Rev Major John Hallows, including representatives from all the armed services, police, fire brigade and air, sea and army cadets.

RESPECT: Memorial Square where the High Sheriff laid her wreath (far left)

The L-shaped monument was covered by a parachute until its eventual debut.

An invitation was also accepted by Lieut Colonel Denis Janelle, of the Canadian Military Attache, to attend.

Fallen troops serving in Canadian regiments, who hailed from Nelson, are named on the memorial.

Lieutenant Colonel John Downham, president of the Lancashire county RBL, said: "For many years now the people of Nelson have been without a memorial that has recorded the names of those brave men of this town who went forth and in the service of their country and paid the ultimate sacrifice.

The old cross which has stood in this square was made by the good men of the-then Nelson Council to provide a memorial but there were no names. All that will now change."

Lord Shuttleworth, Lord Lieutenant of Lancashire, who led the dedication, confirmed the Duke of Kent's Nelson visit and paid tribute to the RBL and all those involved in the design and execution of the memorial project.

Football managers pitch in to beat floods

FOOTBALL bosses in Burnley have begun a dig for victory after being continually left high and dry by waterlogged pitches.

Club officials at Burnley Belvedere FC were so fed up with flooding at their Holden Road ground in Reedley that they decided to engineer their own solution.

Months of fruitless applications for grants had got them nowhere – and the professionals wanted up to £14,000 to construct a relief ditch to ease the soggy problem.

DIGGING DEEP: Work on the drainage

So with a little help from their friends, and a season's fund-raising, managers picked up their spades at the weekend and took matters into their own hands. Club chairman Steve Richardson said: "This year we have only played on this ground four times because of water-logging. Our teams have ended up on park pitches around the area and some of the players have been really disappointed."

Supporters and parents of the club's six sides undertook collections last season and raised £800 towards the project. And Peter MacAdam, who runs his own construction firm and is a keen backer of the club, donated a digger for free.

YOUNG RECRUITS: Leon Kerr, eight, and Sacha Watson, 10, in the jeep brought in by war collector Dean Ashley

Jeep and uniforms bring history alive

A Second World War enthusiast took pupils back in time by recreating the life of a soldier.

Retired teacher Dean Ashley spent a morning showing children at St Thomas' Primary School, Barrowford, his war jeep and collection of soldier uniforms.

The former head of technology at Walton High School also took in other parts of his collection, including war medals and helmets.

RETIRED TEACHER: Dean Ashley

His daughter, Catherine Savage, who teaches year four and five at the school, said: "The children are studying the war and we thought it would be nice to try to bring the subject to life.

"My father has been interested in the war for a long time. He started by collecting helmets and medals, then got the war jeep shipped over from France. He talked to the children about how his father was in the war and how, when he was a little boy, he wanted to be a soldier."

Mr Ashley re-enacted what it would have been like going to the Normandy landings.

Dumping concern at derelict factory

An investigation has been ordered amid concerns over an overgrown site, plagued by dumpers, in the middle of Brierfield.

Neighbours and councillors are concerned about an old factory site, off Henry Gardens, which has been derelict for more than 12 months.

In a report to the Brierfield and Reedley

COUN BARTON

Committee, council planning and building control manager Phil Watson said boundary fencing was insecure and household waste, including a TV and lampshades, had been left there.

Coun Tonia Barton, committee chairman, said: "We know that there is an issue here with anti-social behaviour."

The committee has added the site to its problem buildings register.

Pub rapped over noise

By TYRONE MARSHALL

Management at a bar once owned by 'The Fixer' and 'Shameless' star Jody Latham have been told to keep the noise down.

Bosses at what used to be Jack's Bar, in Gisburn Road, Barrowford, were ordered to stop annoying neighbours with loud music, or face another appearance before Pendle Council's licensing committee.

The bar, now known as The Residence, is being run by Craig Bradshaw and Chuko Odudu, who run a pub by the same name in Blackburn.

The Punch Taverns venue was up before the committee last week accused of breaching licensing conditions by allowing people outside after 10pm, and causing noise nuisance to neighbours.

Peter Gray, who lives opposite the pub, said: "I have a catalogue of incidents where our evening has been ruined by noise.

"Sometimes it can be Friday and Saturday night and that wrecks the whole weekend.

"I work hard for my free time and work all week only to have my weekends ruined by the noise."

Mr Gray conceded that noise had improved since the new licensees took over, but there had been three incidents recorded in two recent weekends.

Laura Hobson, legal representative for the bar's new management, said that live entertainment was still planned for Friday and Saturday, and possibly Thursday as well.

COMPLAINTS: The Residence, Barrowford

She said: "We accept there have been issues in the past, but the new owners are keen to learn from that and work with neighbours to ensure it doesn't happen again."

The committee told the venue to carry out a noise survey and fit a noise limiter within the next two months.

It must also fit signs to the outside smoking area asking people to keep the noise down, and make regular announcements near closing time asking for people to leave quietly.

Parking row rumbles on

By PETE MAGILL

Residents near Pendle's newest super-school look set to lose a four-year fight to park outside their own homes.

To the dismay of Pendle Council's Brierfield and Reedley Committee, county engineers have insisted they will not undertake remedial works to resolve problems in Walverden Road.

New traffic lights are being installed at the junction of Mansfield Road, King's Causeway and Walverden Road, ahead of the opening of the newly-built Marsden Heights Community College.

But no proposals have been laid out for Walverden Road parking, which householders and councillors say has been a problem since 2005. Now the county highways department has stated it will not pay for dropped kerbs for the residents of 1 and 3 Walverden Road because its Building Schools for the Future (BSF) budget for Marsden Heights has already been 'committed'.

Highways official John Ferris said in a letter: "This (traffic lights) enhancement would have no impact on the parking restrictions in this area.

"The scheme is needed irrespective of the new BSF school being built on the Benthead site.

"The BSF project has invested significant monies into the pedestrian/cycle infrastructure around the new school site, to the benefit of both school users and local residents, and the budget is fully, if not over, committed."

NO SPACE: An example of parking problems in Elland Road, Brierfield

Lee Barnes, of Walverden Road, said: "We will still not be able to park outside our own homes. Now we will have to compete for spaces with the new school."

Brierfield Committee chairman Coun Tonia Barton said a renewed appeal for residents-only parking at the location had been made two months ago without reply – which was a "disgrace". She said: "This is symptomatic of the approach which Lancashire County Council has taken over this development. They have not listened to any concerns from residents right from the start."

Councillors have called on county highway engineers to explain their approach at the committee's November meeting.

A county council spokesman said residents-only parking schemes were drawn up by Pendle Council and then discussed with its engineers.

Zig-zags warning to parents

A school on the outskirts of Colne is facing road safety problems on two fronts, according to police and parents.

Neighbourhood police officers have issued warning letters to parents dropping off youngsters at Christ Church School, in Keighley Road.

PC Hilary Gregson, the community beat manager for rural Colne, has urged parents to use a free car park in nearby Ball Grove.

She also wants parents to use a voluntary one-way system, entering Bent Lane via Keighley Road, and leaving the area along Skipton Road.

PC HILARY GREGSON

Parents who park on zig-zags outside the school are warned that they could face fixed penalty notices.

Councillors on Colne and District Committee have also heard concerns from Christ Church parents about a lack of gritting along Ball Grove Drive.

The car park there and a nearby footpath are gritted, but the road is not.

Farewell to web master

FOOTBALL fans decked in the claret and blue of Burnley mourned the founder of a popular fan website.

Around 80 people attended the funeral of Clarets Mad founder Alan Boys at Burnley Crematorium, with around 20 of them wearing club colours, including his 12-year-old son Ross, who was wearing full club kit.

ALAN BOYS

The funeral cortege stopped for a minute as it passed Turf Moor, with around 30 club staff lining the streets, heads bowed, to pay their respects to the 45-year-old.

Mr Boys, of Derby Street, Colne, died on October 2. He suffered a pulmonary embolism after contracting deep vein thrombosis in his leg.

Last week's quote from Ozzy Osbourne, was: "Of all the things I've ever lost, I miss my mind the most."

In this puzzle, a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order. Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Punctuation is given in its own square. This week's quotation is from author Dorothy Parker.

Horoscopes with Claire Petulengro

Aries March 21 - April 20

Even though it is going to be tempting to let go of the reins in your career, you would be far better to stay in the driving seat this week. Call: 0906 585 4516

You know that life is about to change and the excitement you feel should be enough to tackle anything. Call me now to hear how Saturn helps you in all this.

Call: 0906 585 4517

Gemini May 22 - June 21

Careful with your money this weekend please Gemini. If you spend more than you should then you will not have the flexibility which love requires for total success. Call: 0906 585 4518

Cancer June 22 - July 22

Call: 0906 585 4519

Leo July 23 - August 24

Call my starline now to hear why it's worth standing by family, and not friends, in current dramas.

Call: 0906 585 4521

Libra Sept 23 - October 23

Your family always knew which buttons to press to get you riled, and indeed it's easy to see that times have not changed. What can you do to gain the upper hand? You can say what you really think and not just what they want to hear. Call me now to hear how your love life can improve if you follow my gameplan.

Call: 0906 585 4522

Scorpio October 24 - Nov 21

This has not been an easy year for you, but by the end of it, you are sure to see that you have come out of it a better and more rounded person. Call: 0906 585 4523

Sagittarius Nov 22 - Dec 20

Never a sign to shy away from a drama, you must be very excited by your life at the moment. What you need to know from the onset though, is that if you want your success to be long term and not just short term, you need to get those promises in the form of a contract. Call now to hear how love and secrecy make for a spicy weekend.

Call: 0906 585 4524

Capricorn Dec 21 - Jan 20

Don't be so hard on yourself Capricorn. Not even you can take the whole world on their shoulders. They say that a problem shared is a problem halved, so talk to those who have been offering you a shoulder to lean on. It's sure to see you feeling far more at ease with life. Call me now to hear good news coming from Saturn.

Call: 0906 585 4525

Aquarius Jan 21 - Feb 19

Stop telling loved ones how to live their life and start putting your time and energy into your own instead. Could it be that you are trying to avoid what you now know will be inevitable changes? Travel is under some really lucky and enjoyable aspects. Life gets exciting if you're willing to admit how you feel. Call now for backup.

Call: 0906 585 4526

Pisces Feb 20 - March 20

You have not been making your career a priority. You've been working hard, yes, but you have not been looking at the bigger picture. By doing so this week you get to see what needs to be done to achieve success. News of an ex puts a smile on your face. Call me now to hear why you must be wary of quick fix financial offers.

REUNITED: Jean and her beloved collie Midge

Tail of missing dog has a happy ending

A much-loved dog was reunited with her owners three weeks after she went missing.

Midge, a 10-year-old border collie, was found safe and well in Salford, near Manchester, more than 50 miles from her home in Salterforth, near Barnoldswick.

Her owner, Robert Bradley, and his wife, Jean, drove 600 miles searching for their family pet and put up more than 300 appeal posters. They also contacted local vets, dog wardens, councils and kennels and placed a big sign at the bottom of Sawley Brow, on the A59. As a last hope, Jean placed an ad in the Manchester Evening News and, on October 5, they received a phone call from a couple in Salford who had found Midge.

Jean said: "They had taken really good care of her.

"We feel like someone has given us a million pounds. It's great to have her home."

I used to flunk at everything

FIVE MINUTES WITH ... ALISON MOYET

YOU GREW UP IN BASILDON, ARE YOU STILL AN ESSEX GIRL AT HEART?

Yeah I think so, my family are still there and it's what's at the bones of you, really. It was never an ambition of mine to leave, it happened upon me, but I was never one of those people who were just desperate to get out. As a child I just loved it!

YOU LEFT SCHOOL AT 16, WAS THAT TO CONCENTRATE ON MUSIC?

No, not really. I just used to flunk at everything and had a problem with concentration. I lost interest in school, so left and went from job to job – which you could do then because there were loads of rubbish jobs around – and I started a couple of courses and then dropped out. I was playing in a couple of bands, but never imagined I'd be doing that full-time.

SO HOW DID YOU FORM YAZOO?

There was a very strong pub-rock scene in the 1970s, which after punk is what I'd got into, supporting bands like Dr Feelgood, and there was a real Canvey/Southend sound which I was a part of. I knew Vince (Clarke) because I was in a class with a couple of the Depeche Mode boys at college. Vince's best mate was a guitar player in my punk band, and when Vince left Depeche and was looking for a singer, I came to mind because I was a little face on the local scene. Within a couple of months I went from having being at college studying restoration to having a single out, made an album and suddenly we were massive pop stars.

Alison Moyet made her name as singer with synth-pop band Yazoo and became a major international artist with her 1984 solo debut album Alf. The 48-year-old, from Billericay, released her new album The Best Of Alison Moyet on October 19. She will perform at the Lowry, Salford Quays, on November 17.

Candid

The applause goes on so long when Ed Byrne appears live that the comedian is forced to return to the stage for an encore.

His audiences simply won't leave until they have been treated to a few more of his comic gems.

Next month it's a Blackburn crowd who'll be clapping for more as the comedian appears as part of the town's 'You Must Be Joking' comedy festival.

And Ed is just as charming off stage as on it. He possesses a genuine magnetism which he exudes like one of those force fields in an old episode of Star Trek.

Ed, who hails from Dublin, starts by assessing why his new tour titled "Different Class" is striking such a chord with audiences. He says people are lapping it up because he reveals so much about himself.

What is appealing is how candidly the comic discusses everything from his recent wedding, to his frustration at thinking up the approp-riate bon mot long after the moment has passed.

"The best comedy comes from a personal angle," declares 36-year-old Ed, who has appeared on TV shows Have I Got News For You, Mock the Week, Never Mind the Buzzcocks and 8 out of 10 Cats.

"Sometimes you hear a comedian on stage saying, 'I'm single', and you think, 'no, you're not, you're married with kids!' I think it makes a great difference if as a comic you can take your own life and tell the truth about it. If it's real, it makes it so much better. It gives it much more authenticity and has far greater punch."

comedian Ed

The Irishman, who since last summer has been very happily married, said: "You could be accused of self-indulgence, but my experience has been that audiences really like it when you reveal something of yourself on stage. It's not funny unless they believe it. For instance, one section of 'Different Class' that goes down very well is where I talk about my status. I discuss neither being massively famous, nor totally obscure, and how strange it is simply to be known as 'that bloke'."

One of the many outstanding sections of "Different Class", which completely sold out during its month-long run at this year's Edinburgh Festival, is his wedding. He extracts loads of laughs from highlighting the numerous rip-offs in the wedding industry. He jokes, for example, that "the best thing is that since I've been married, I haven't had to plan a wedding!"

He also wants to congratulate the man who invented the tradition that the bridegroom should never see his bride's dress before The Big Day: "I want to shake his hand for getting us out of that particular shopping expedition."

Green damp proofing without the mess of replastering

Holland Damp Proofing

NATURAL SOLUTION:
Director, Evert de Graaf, shows where the bricks are inserted to clear dampness.

WITH Winter approaching, now is the time to prepare for the colder and wetter weather.

A surprising number of people live in damp, mouldy and unhealthy homes, not only letting their property deteriorate but also putting their health at risk.

And while everyone knows the benefits of damp proofing, people tend to think about the mess of replastering and the disruption that usually comes with a new damp proofing course.

For ten years the eco-friendly company, Holland Damp Proofing has used a Dutch system, which provides damp proofing from the outside without the mess of replastering. It works by fitting specialist bricks from the outside which combat damp.

The Holland Damp Proof System® can be installed in an average house within one or two days at a price that is often lower than a chemical damp proof course.

The treatment is a worthwhile investment, as it will not need doing again and saves on the cost of redecorating and replastering.

Tested independently by Liverpool University, the eco-friendly method can be used to treat problems such as rising damp, penetrating damp, condensation and mould.

It can be used on virtually all types of walls, whether stone or brick, and can be perfectly combined with cavity wall insulation – keeping your home drier and warmer, whilst helping lower your heating bills.

The system has been fitted in thousands of UK properties, and is used by councils and housing associations.

The rapidly expanding company, which regularly wins awards for innovation and success, now has four branches covering the UK (mainland).

The power of a smile

Smiling is infectious you catch it like the flu,
Buy a car from Hugh and you'll be smiling too.
If you feel a smile begin don't leave it undetected,
Our warranty is good, you'll be so well protected.
I passed around the corner I was confronted by a grin,
It was a satisfied customer I'd passed it on to him.
I thought about his smile and realised its power
More powerful than advertising, growing like a flower.
A simple smile like his could travel round the earth
Part exchanges taken we'll tell you what its worth.

Players don't mean to make mistakes...

Ian Britton
ON THE CLARETS

I DON'T think there was a lot of difference between Blackburn Rovers and Burnley on Sunday.

Burnley had as many chances as Blackburn but they just let in bad goals again.

There were schoolboy errors for two of the goals, although I have to say that the local lad David Dunn had a good game for Blackburn.

Overall Blackburn did maybe do a bit more but Brian Jensen didn't have many saves to make.

There isn't a lot of difference between the two sides at all, and I think that's the same for a lot of teams apart from the top six.

I think, or at least I'm certainly hoping, that we'll do better when we play them at Turf Moor with the crowd behind us.

My brother came down from Scotland at the weekend and we watched the game at Rolls Royce in Barnoldswick.

The place was packed and it erupted when Robbie Blake scored.

I quite enjoyed watching the game, it was just a shame it wasn't the right result.

Obviously people were disappointed at the end and some looked to blame the defence. But the players don't mean to make mistaskes, they always try 100 per cent and I think most realise that.

The fans are fully behind the team. We've come out of the Championship and into the Premier League, and whatever happens this season it will be a season we won't forget.

I thought beforehand that we would get a draw and if we could have gone in 2-1 down at half time it might have been different, but again we conceded a goal at a bad time and it was a big ask to come back from 3-1 down.

We didn't really look likely to score after that, although we did get a goal at the end which changed things a bit.

And I didn't think it was a foul on Jensen for Franco Di Santo's goal.

I think it was Stephen Jordan who did nudge him and then Graham Alexander might have meant to head it over the bar but unfortunately it went back across goal.

Burnley might have to look again at how they play away from home because they're still to get a point away this season.

They maybe need to try to play a bit more defensively, although I'm not sure Owen will want to change how they play.

But it does put pressure on them to get results at home. We've got Wigan and Hull at home in our next two games and I think we have to be looking at getting six points
